DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 1-9 and 11-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The notation c'' is not defined in formula (6) and notation c' is not part of formula (6).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sperling et al. (US 5,112,531).

The reference discloses an electrical device for processing optical signals containing an optical component comprising an acrylic polymer represented by formula (1) capable of changing its refractive index in an electric or electromagnetic field. The acrylic polymer of formula (1) exhibits nonlinear optical response in electric field. The advantage of utilizing acrylic polymers is because of the ability to alter the molecular structure and thereby optimize the nonlinear optical and physical properties of the polymers. The reference polymers show high mechanical strength and chemical stability.

Art Unit: 1756

This ability to synthesize specific polymeric structures makes the reference material particularly useful for the fabrication of various electro-optic devices such as interferometers, optical switches, optical amplifiers, generators and computational devices.

Each component of reference formula (1) reads on the claimed formula (6).

Therefore, the reference anticipates the claimed compound.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1756

5. Claims 11-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sperling et al. (US 5,112,531).

The reference differs from the claims in that the claim composition comprises an additional liquid crystal. It is well known in the art that the nonlinear optical material is useful and can mix with liquid crystal materials in liquid crystal display devices (see US 4,954,288 or 5,011,623). Therefore, it would have been obvious to those skilled in the art to utilize the reference nonlinear optical materials mix with liquid crystal material to arrive at the claimed composition.

6. Claims 10 and 20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
